Puthuppally gets ready to elect Chandy Oommen

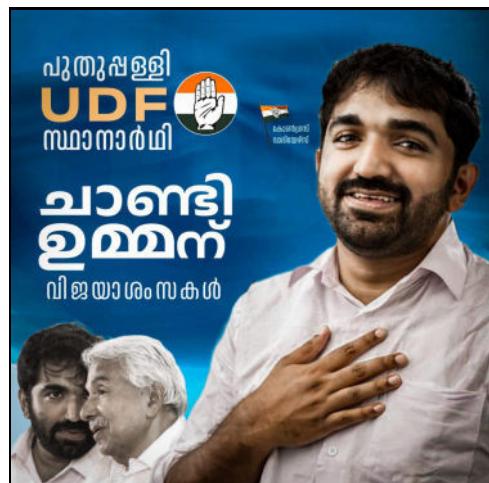

Puthuppally, once again finds itself in the spotlight, as Chandy Oommen, the son of the late Oommen Chandy, takes up the mantle to continue his father's legacy.

Just a month ago, a massive gathering converged in Puthuppally to bid a final farewell to their revered leader, Oommen Chandy. Now, the landscape is set to transform once more, this time with political campaigns and blazing rallies shaping the region's political and social landscape.

The Election Commission of India (ECI) has formally declared the bypoll to be held on the 5th of September.

Achu Oommen, Chandy Oommen's sister, confidently predicts a historic victory for her brother in the upcoming Puthuppally by-election. Such a triumph would not only reaffirm his deep-rooted ties to the region and its people but also stand as a resounding vindication against any allegations that may have been directed his way.

Chandy Oommen's strategic selection as the candidate gains added significance due to his involvement in campus politics and his active participation in political affairs. His family's profound connections within the constituency further underscore the thoughtful choice. It is foreseen that his legacy will resonate positively with the discerning electorate of Puthuppally.

Chandy Oommen's academic accolades are widely acknowledged. He secured his Bachelor's and Master's degrees in History from St. Stephen's College, Delhi University. Subsequently, he pursued an LLB from Delhi University's Law School, followed by a Postgraduate Diploma from the esteemed London School of Economics. His academic journey continued at Delhi National Law University, culminating in an LLM in Criminology.

In the political arena, the Communist Party of India (Marxist) (CPI-M) has put forth Jaick C. Thomas, a contender from the Jacobite community who had contested against Oommen Chandy in the 2021 Assembly elections.

The Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) has selected G Lijin Lal as its candidate in Puthuppally bypoll. Lijin Lal is BJP's Kottayam district president

The bypoll campaign is poised to delve into broader national issues, encompassing topics such as the Manipur violence, the Uniform Civil Code (UCC), and the challenges to federalism posed by the central government.

Ramesh Chennithala cancels UK visit

Distinguished Congress leader Ramesh Chennithala has adjusted his plans, deferring a scheduled European visit (originally planned from August 17 to 27) to focus on the campaign. This visit, initially intended for public engagements organized by groups such as the Indian Overseas Congress and Overseas Indian Cultural Congress in the UK and Ireland, has been set aside to contribute to the election.

In the midst of these evolving political dynamics, Chandy Oommen garners substantial support from Indian diaspora organisations based in the UK. Many devoted supporters affiliated with OICC/IOC are now preparing to travel to Puthuppally to support the campaign.

As the campaign narrative unfolds, UDF, CPI(M) and BJP adherents are energetically engaged in shaping the eventual outcome, with an eye towards gleaning valuable insights in preparation for the impending 2024 Lok Sabha elections.

Bharatiya Vidya Bhavan marks 76th Indian Independence with special Evening

The prestigious Bharatiya Vidya Bhavan in London, UK's largest centre for Indian classical arts, recently conducted a remarkable evening in honour of India's 76th Independence. The event not only paid homage to India's historic milestone but also underlined the Bhavan's mission of fostering cultural connections.

The Indian Independence Celebration was organised under the direction of Dr. Nanda Kumar, a distinguished Sanskrit scholar who recently received the King's Award for his years of dedicated and successful service at the Bhavan. The evening program consisted of brief addresses from the Chairman as well as the Special guests including HE Vikram Doraiswami, the Indian High Commissioner to London.

commended the Bharatiya Vidya Bhavan for its inclusive approach vis-a-vis the diverse and varied linguistic and musical traditions of India.

Hon. Lord Loomba in his speech mindfully touched on the Independence Movement led by Mahatma Gandhiji, Pundit Nehru and Sardar Patel etc giving them all credit for their able and purposeful leadership and sacrifices which brought about Indian independence 76 years ago.

The speaking session was followed by a music and dance session which consisted of a few colourful and stunning musical and dance performances by well-trained and experienced groups of youngsters. The musical performances triggered a nostalgic impact among those of Indian descent.

India's political independence, matched by economic independence, provides all its citizens with a stake in the country, where the diaspora Indians can play a constructive role in shaping India's destiny.

Kerala shines in London's spectacular Saree Walkathon, celebrating handloom heritage

The streets of London witnessed a magnificent showcase as Kerala took the spotlight in a vibrant Saree Walkathon, an event that celebrated the cherished legacy of Indian handloom traditions. Over 40 Indian-origin women from Kerala, elegantly draped in their regional handloom sarees, joined the procession, adding a touch of Kerala's rich cultural tapestry to the event.

Organised by 'British Women in Sarees,' approximately 700 women adorned in vibrant sarees paraded alongside iconic landmarks, marching from Trafalgar Square to the Mahatma Gandhi statue at Parliament Square along the way on Whitehall near Downing Street.

The Kerala group, coordinated by Dr. Hema Santhosh of the Kerala Arts & Literary Association (KALA) UK, displayed unwavering excitement as they participated in the walkathon. "As ambassadors of this movement, we feel grateful that we have gained immense success with our early efforts in bringing the limelight to the artists and weavers, and putting their wearable art on a pedestal where everyone is curious to know more about them," said Dr. Hema Santhosh.

The participants showcased Kerala's traditional cream settu mundu sarees with borders, contributing to a colorful display of diverse handloom styles from across India. As part of the larger event, the Kerala contingent added a touch of Kerala's elegance and tradition to the parade.

While the women were the stars of the walkathon, the male members of KALA, led by Dr. Sukumaran Nair, the Patron of KALA, and Dr. K Nanu, President of KALA, joined in, donning traditional Kasavu Mundu attire. Their involvement reinforced the collective commitment to upholding the cultural heritage.

Dr. Deepa Jain, the founder of British Women in Sarees, highlighted the event's aim of promoting and supporting Indian handloom weavers. The occasion was a vivid reminder of the inaugural event held at the Ladies Day Royal Ascot Races in 2022 in Berkshire, where over 1000 women from the Indian subcontinent radiantly adorned sarees.

This Saree Walkathon unfolded against the backdrop of National Handloom Day, an annual observance that pays tribute to India's handloom-weaving community and its profound contribution to the nation's socio-economic fabric. The Kerala contingent's vibrant presence in London added an exceptional Kerala touch to the global celebration of India's handloom heritage.
